The Museum Group will host three of its highly engaging Conversations in Minneapolis St. Paul. For many years, TMG has offered museum colleagues an informal, collegial setting in which to explore issues of interest and concern to the museum field. TMG Conversations offer a rare opportunity in a large and busy meeting for intimately scaled, challenging and insightful discourse among peers.

TMG Conversations will take place in Suite 2411, at the Hyatt Regency Hotel, 1300 Nicollet Mall (adjacent to the convention center).

Monday April 30: 9:00 to 10:15 a.m.

Hosted by Laura B. Roberts, Robert M. West, and Alan J. Friedman

How do we balance advocacy around issues key to our values while still keeping our stakeholders with us?

Monday April 30: 2:00 to 3:15 p.m.

Hosted by Debbie Mack and Elaine Heumann Gurian

How can we create strong cross-cultural collaborations as a global community of museum professionals?

Tuesday May 1: 10:45 a.m. to noon

Hosted by Myriam Springuel, Marianna Adams, Paige Simpson

Spark, ignite, tend, fan: How can collaborative work fuel professional development?
